Bemis' new map of Omaha, 25 cents. The windows are being put in Strang's new building to-day. 200 farms and 900,000 acres of land Bemis, agent. The Lion continues to roar for Moore's Harness and Saddlery. For First Commercial Job Printing, all at The Bee Job rooms. Prescriptions a specialty, Opera House Pharmacy, 211 S. 15th Street. The Omaha Zither club will give a concert Tuesday evening, September 6th. Highest cash price paid for second-hand furniture at Abram's & Lewis', 1121 Douglas street. A rare chance to obtain a good paying business. See special column. Enquire at South 14th street. The trial of General Estabrook on the charge of renting one of his houses to a prostitute, takes place in the police court Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Alfred Curtis, of the car accountant's office, B. & M. R. R., is incapacitated from work, suffering from consumption. Willie Scott, a Western Union telegraph messenger, struck his leg against a sharp stick in the sidewalk. The stick penetrated the calf several inches, making a painful wound. There is a young man rooming on the second floor of a Farnham street building who for some time past has been in the habit of sitting near the front window of his room very scantly attired. He appears to have no sense of propriety, and does many improper things within the plain view of persons passing by and those in buildings on the opposite side of the street.

Seriously Injured.

A runaway of a somewhat serious nature occurred yesterday morning about 11 o'clock. As a United States mail wagon was about leaving the stables the horses suddenly started off, tearing along Harney street till they reached Tenth street, where the wagon struck against a hydrant. The wagon was overturned and the driver precipitated to the ground. The driver, A. V. Smith, fractured two bones two inches below the left knee, and was severely bruised all over the body. He was immediately conveyed to Dr. Mercer's institute, where his bones were set and he was put to bed. One of the horses was very badly injured, in fact, it is feared its injuries may terminate fatally.

PERSONALS.

James Skinner and wife are now in Omaha on a visit to their friends. Mr. Skinner was formerly president of Omaha. Mr. and Mrs. Keith have arrived from the east, where they procured a large stock of goods. N. J. Burnham and family have returned from their trip to Denver and Laramie. Harry Walker, a well-known young St. Louis journalist, is in the city for a few days in the interest of the Hornet, of that city, one of the spiciest illustrated publications in the country. The Hornet is already quite extensively sold here, and is meeting a gratifying success everywhere. E. A. Benson, of Davenport, Iowa, is in the city. George W. Gray arrived home yesterday from a visit in the west. James W. Way, of the U. P. arrived home yesterday afternoon from Cheyenne. John Fitzgerald, Lincoln's wealthy representative man, spent yesterday at the eighteen house. J. N. Reynolds, the county clerk of Nance county, is in the city. He will return home to-day. James F. McCartney arrived from'Neill City yesterday on a visit to his relatives and friends. George R. Mann, the architect of the Grand Central, arrived in town yesterday and is stopping at the Withnell. Col. Matt J. Patrick and bride, have returned from New York. Col. Patrick will take up his permanent abode at his pleasant home on Saunders street which he had hitherto used as a bachelor's hall.

Third Ward Voters.

I will sit for registration of voters Monday, the 5th day of September, 1881, for registration of voters of the Third Ward, and said book will be open at my office, 1324 Douglas street northeast corner of Fourteenth.

Registration Notice.

Notice is hereby given that I will sit at Lorenzen's Cigar Store, 514 S. Tenth street on Monday, September 5th, 1881, for the purpose of registering additional voters of the First ward and correcting the old list. In witness whereof I have hereto set my hand this 25th day of August, 1881. E. M. STRANDBERG, Registrar First Ward.

BURGLARS LET LOOSE.

Their Midnight Matinee in Bowery Hill

The burglars made things very lively about Bowery Hill early Saturday morning. About 2 o'clock they removed the screen from one of the windows in James McMahon's house, on Thirteenth and Arbor streets, opposite Judge Hascall's residence. After skimming about the house for some time one of them finally reached Mr. McMahon's bedroom. There he secured a gold watch and chain, a magnifying glass and several trinkets of more or less value. A few minutes after the man left the room Mr. McMahon awoke, and feeling thirsty went to the pantry to secure a glass. When he opened the door he almost fell into the arms of the burglar who was hidden in there. Mr. McMahon was only partially awake and in no condition for a tussle. Besides he was unarmed. Retreating to secure a weapon the burglar took advantage of the opportunity to slip out which he did in short order. When Mr. McMahon returned he found the burglar missing and with him the property mentioned. About the same time an entrance was effected into the residence of Frank Volenta, on the corner of Fifteenth street and Bellevue road. Quite a lot of personal effects were removed outside, where were they searched at leisure. Thirty-seven dollars and a half were found in one of the pockets, and this was taken and nothing else was disturbed.

A driver for the Merchants' express, living in the same vicinity, was unable to sleep on account of the heat. Getting out of bed, he lighted a lamp and sat down to read THE BEE. He had been so engaged but a short time when he heard a suspicious noise at one of the windows. Going there to learn what was the cause he interrupted the work of a couple of fellows who scampered off in the darkness.

Another expressman living a few blocks distant while dozing heard several slight taps at the front door as if somebody was trying to discover if the occupants of the house were asleep. Getting up he moved quietly to the door and suddenly inquired who was there. "Varstehen Deutsch" was the question from the outside. "No, but what in the — do you want?" asked the expressman. "Can you tell me the road to Omaha?" asked the fellow in perfect English. "I'll tell you the road to Omaha, you —; just wait a moment."

The expressman began to hastily unbolt the door, which he succeeded in doing just in time to see the fellow rapidly disappearing around the corner.

Mrs. John Rush, wife of the assistant county treasurer, was sick, as it happened and kept a light burning most of the time. This circumstance prevented an invasion of the Rush household which is in the neighborhood.

MARRIED.

HERMAN-ELDRIDGE—August 25th. At the home of the bride's father, J. G. Eldridge, by Rev. J. B. Maxfield, Mr. John B. Herman and Miss Madge Eldridge, all of Blair, Nebraska.

TRUE TO HER TRUST.

Too much cannot be said of the ever faithful wife and mother, constantly watching and caring for her dear ones, never neglecting a single duty in their behalf. Delayed by a Burned Bridge.

Friday night an accident occurred on the C. B. & Q. railroad near Creston, a station about forty miles west of Council Bluffs. A bridge of considerable size a little west of the station caught on fire from some unknown cause, and soon destroyed the entire structure. The passenger train leaving Council Bluffs in the evening had just got to this point, and its further progress was prevented. After waiting some little time to let the fire subside a transfer of passengers was made to the C., R. I. & P. railroad. It was necessary to add a day coach and one sleeping car in order to accommodate the passengers from the C. B. & Q. The passengers in the sleeping cars had just retired for the night, and consequently were considerably put out when called upon to get up and dress. The accident delayed the R. I. train about an hour in making the transfer of baggage and passengers to their train. The night mail train over the C. B. & Q. was delayed in reaching Omaha on account of the accident.

BITTEN TO DEATH.

Horrible Fate of a LaPlatte Farmer.

A farmer living near La Platte gives some facts about a fatal row which occurred near that place on Thursday of this week. According to the man's statement there has been a feud existing between two neighboring farmers for a long time past. Thursday one of them named O'Leary got well under the influence of liquor and then started for the farm of his enemy.

The farms join and when O'Leary reached it he commenced abusing the man, whose name was John Kopejka. They were both under the influence of liquor and soon commenced fighting. It was a death struggle, as the result showed. O'Leary being the stronger of the two men got his adversary down and literally bit him to death. Kopejka soon after died from the effects of his wounds. The deceased is said to have been, when sober, a very decent sort of a man, but when drunk was rather quarrelsome. He came to this state a little over a year ago from Macoupin county, Illinois, and lived on a rented place. O'Leary is said to be a very vindictive sort of a fellow and very quarrelsome. He is said to be much addicted to drink.

We guarantee that "Conrad's Budweiser" is brewed, especially for our trade, according to the Budweiser process, of the best Saazer Hops and Bohemian Barley, and warranted to keep in any climate. Ask your druggist for it.

Child Badly Hurt.

Isaac Levi, grocer at 713 South Thirteenth street, with his family, was out driving in a light wagon yesterday about Thirteenth and Dorcas streets, the bolt which holds the shaft to the axle slipped and Mrs. Levi was pitched upon her head by a sudden lurch of the vehicle. She carried a baby in her arms, and in her descent she fell upon the infant. Mrs. Levi received several severe cuts and bruises, but the baby was by far the most badly injured. Its nose was fractured by the fall, and the blood flowed from it in a perfect stream. It was immediately given medical assistance, but is understood to be in a precarious condition. Mr. Levi and two other children in the wagon escaped unhurt.

DULL DAY.

No Saloons Opened Yesterday Within City Limits.

The streets of Omaha were as thoroughly dull yesterday as could well be. The saloons were all closed, as far as could be learned, both front and rear. The prudent man had laid in a supply the night before, and he was about the only contented individual to be found. The other stores generally were bolted and barred. There were a few exceptions to this rule, however. One drug store on Farnham street dispensed soda water the entire day. The place was constantly crowded by pedestrians who were compelled to compromise on that cooling beverage. Another drug store on Douglas street did a thriving business in the same line. There were some unshaven men in town, too. They neglected to visit their barbers Saturday night, and had no opportunity Sunday. The inveterate smokers were put to considerable inconvenience. It was possible to purchase cigars in most parts of the city, but it was usually necessary to walk some distance.

There was quite an exodus to Council Bluffs during the day. The transfer was constantly crowded. Five men, it is said, were kept constantly employed in handing out foaming lager to the thirsty crowds. Strange to say, few came back violently intoxicated.

There were several places out near the driving park that were literally besieged. It is said that a small brewery out that way (not Bauman's, which was closed) had sold out every drop of beer early in the afternoon, notwithstanding they had made an extra supply. For the rest of the day beer was at discount and many in desperation took whisky.

There was not a single arrest for drunkenness Saturday.

An Exciting Time.

There was quite an excitement created at the circus last Saturday night. The regular circus performance had been concluded and the concert, which usually follows, was on. The roustabouts were engaged in tearing down a portion of the seats and otherwise getting ready for departure when the ropes attached to one of the gasoline lights suspended to the center-pole gave way and the light fell to the ground on a run. The can broke and the gasoline ignited and blazed up to a height of four or five feet. Instantly cries of fire were made by the startled audience and a general stampede and panic were imminent. But for the presence of mind of Mr. James Neligh and others, together with certain of the attaches of the circus, a jam would have undoubtedly occurred, which would have resulted in the death of a number of persons. The gentlemen reassured the audience, quiet was restored and the play went on.

Unexpected Death. P. J. Johnson died Saturday evening last at his residence, No. 1421 North Nineteenth street, of typhoid fever, after an illness of about three weeks. Mr. Johnson was a member of the ice and coal firm of Benson & Johnson, which recently dissolved. Since the dissolution Mr. Johnson carried on the business, until he was prostrated by the fever. Mrs. Johnson being absent from the city no arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned at the Canfield house, Omaha, until one o'clock p. m. on Monday, 29th inst., for furnishing and delivering at the southwest corner of 7th and Douglas streets, Omaha, material for a warehouse for the Consolidated Tank-line Company, the lowest nor any bid not necessarily accepted. Bills of materials or other information will be furnished on application to WILLIAM BOYD, Canfield House, Omaha.

TO OUR PATRONS. Our store will be closed Sunday. We would most respectfully request that you will procure your Sunday supply of good cigars and tobacco this evening. MAX MEYER & CO.

Prairie Fires.

Extensive prairie fires are raging along the Omaha & St. Paul road. A gentleman who reached Omaha last night over this road reports that large ones are burning between Blair and Fort Calhoun. On this side of Fort Calhoun they are burning all along the road. The fires are not confined to prairie grass alone, but stacks of grain are also burned. A bridge on the road a short distance above Florence was burned down, and it delayed the train some little time. At some places the fire came so near to the track that the windows of the cars had to be closed to keep it out.

CROOKED YOUTH.

He is Picked Up by Sheriff Guy for Theft.

Saturday a small boy went into the county treasurer's office and offered to some one there an ordinary clothes brush worth about fifty cents. He asked only ten cents for it and Sheriff George Gay, who was in the office, suspected that the boy had not come honestly by the brush. He questioned him upon the subject and from his answers the sheriff was satisfied that the boy had stolen the brush somewhere. He said that he had bought it at Whitney's, on Douglas street, and Gay took him to see whether he had or not. John Nash, the clerk, said that the boy had not got the brush there. The youth next said that he found it in the alley back of Bushman's store in a lot of rubbish. One of the clerks there said he had not done so. The sheriff then threatened to put him in jail if he did not tell the truth. He took the sheriff to C. H. Brown's office where he stated that he had taken it from a coal box in the hall of the building. Mr. O'Connor stated that the brush had been lying on a table in the office, and that the boy must certainly have taken it from there. The young fellow would not own up for some time but he had taken it from there, but finally did so. The door was locked, so he had climbed around from a hall window along the cornice of the first story into the window of the office. Sheriff Guy took the boy to his house to hold until Mr. Brown was consulted as to the disposition of him. Mr. Brown was seen and he did not wish to prosecute the boy because of his youth. The boy's name is Chas. Baker. He is thirteen years of age. He is a pretty hard case and is well known to the police as a bad boy.

MAJ. ILGES.

The Officer to Whom Sitting Bull Surrendered.

Maj. Guido Ilges, of the United States army, was in the city yesterday, the guest of Gen. C. H. Fredericks, who used to belong to the same regiment. Ilges is on his way west to settle the claims of citizens for damages incurred during the Nez Perce war, in which the major participated. Maj. Ilges is the officer to whom Sitting Bull and his band surrendered for Fort Yates, D. T. Maj. Ilges is an experienced Indian campaigner, and for his bravery has been promoted to a lieutenant colonel. His commission is awaiting the signature of the president. A reporter for THE BEE had the pleasure of meeting Maj. Ilges to-day. In relation to the present condition of Indian affairs, he said that no trouble need be expected from the Indians the coming fall or winter. However, the coming spring trouble might be anticipated, as the Indians were in a very sullen mood. Maj. Ilges is of the opinion that the Indian difficulties will never be settled until the aborigines are turned over to the military authorities. As long as they remain in the hands of the Indian bureau they will be restless.
